January: Expedition to Argentine and Chilean Patagonia

This region offers the chance to hike in some of the world's most beautiful natural parks: Torres Del Paine, Los Glacieras...

We'd never done an independent trek in our lives. Our 4 days in the Torres Del Paine Natural Park in southern Chile, surveying the immense meadows, snow-covered mountains and glacier-fed lakes, completely enchanted us! The Cerro Fitz Roy trek is our second must-do in the region.

- When to go: during the summer between December and February (the seasons are reversed in the southern hemisphere).

- We left in February, so remember to book accommodation in the parks a few months before your trip to ensure you have a place to pitch your tent or a cosy bed in a dormitory.

Février 2026 : Vivre l'incroyable carnaval brésilien

Brazil, and more specifically São Paulo, was the first destination on our world tour. For 4 days, we followed the blocos or bandas, which are people brought together, usually on a float, by a common element (a neighborhood, a dance school, an association...) who parade during carnival. The procession follows a float of dancers accompanied by musicians.

It's definitely the best way to experience Carnival like a Brazilian! Some blocos or bandas are well known and attract huge crowds, a sort of open-air discotheque. Others are more intimate, where you can learn a few samba steps with the locals.

- This year's carnival runs from February 22 to March 08.
- Tip: it's possible to attend Samba School rehearsals before Carnival for an unbeatable price.
- Prepare your caipirinha before setting off on your parade – it's a very easy cocktail to make!

March: Cuban paradise beaches

For us, Cuban beaches are the most beautiful in the world (Varadero, Cayo Coco, Cayo Largo...). With its translucent waters and white sandy beaches, it's a real little paradise. To escape the winter doldrums, head for Cuba.

Les villes et la campagne cubaine sont aussi à explorer. Bref, la plus grande île des
